BLACK SMOKE rising from a stack at Corn Sweeteners, Inc., here Monday evening was caused by the standardown in a high pressure steam boiler which helted the flow of forced air over burning coal. The lack of air caused the coal to smoke as it burned, a plant spokesman said. The breakdown courred at 5:20 p.m. and the boiler was put back in operation at 6:10 p.m. Refinery sections of the plant closed during the breakdown due to a shortage of steam from the boiler.

Schleuger said, "a poor ef-fluent is produced at the plant and discharged to the Chain of Rocks Canal," because of the nature and high strength of raw waste received at the plant.

In a letter addressed to May-or Donald Partney and mem-bers of the city council, Schleuger said:

For her wedding, the bride wore a white gown of Chantilly lace designed with an Empire waist, bishop sleeves and a high collar. The slightly gathered skirt was fashioned with a ruffled hem.

Her mantilla veil was created of bridal illusion and she car-ried a Bible with an arrange-ment of orchids and stephano-tis intermingled with ivy.

The attendants wore identical frocks in royal blue, featuring fitted bodices with high collars and leg-of-mutton sleeves. A full ruftle enhanced the long gathered skirts.

Each girl wore a white wide brimmed hat and held a single long stem red rose. Barbara and Betsy Eaker, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They were gowned in similar style dresses as worn by adult attendants.

It's never too early for a child to learn to use the phone. If you have a child in the early elementary grades or almost there, now is an ideal time.

How do you teach him?

First, show him how to dial the operator in an emergency. This one number could be a life-saver.

Second, help him memorize his home telephone number. If he's lost, it's better than a compass.

When he's ready, show him how to look up numbers in the phone book.

Emphasize that the phone is no plaything. It can be a lifeline—if you know how to use it

Rapid Transit Downgrading of Granite City At State Insistence Reported in Springfield

Ogilvie has been courting St. Clair County while frustrating Madison County, SIUE and the Quad-Cities, as detailed in our July 6 editorial.

Quad-cities, as detailed in our July 6 editorial.

Now there are reports from Springfield that an Ogilvie spokesman says the administration will "insist that one of the lines which the St. Louis Area Rapid Transit Agency originally recommended go from the new Columbia-Waterloo airport to Granite City be extended to Alton instead."

Alton instead."

The original SLARTA plan for airport rapid transit was described as a link to St. Louis-East St. Louis, followed by links to Granite City and the Fairview Heights area, followed by extension of the Granite City line to Alon and the building of another line from the airport to South St. Louis County.

South St. Louis County.

Now the reported program calls for lines to St. Louis-East St. Louis, Fairview Heights and Alton. The supposed SLARTA downgrading of the Quad-Cities and upgrading of Alton is said to have resulted from a meeting with the governor and "insistence" by the state.

Our July 6 comment was headed "No effective local voice at Springfield; many actions there have harmed this area." This still appears to be the case.

Columbia-St. Louis Strassenfest Sets an Example That Could Be Copied on Airport

St. Louis and Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., may not yet be in total agreement about the actions which should be taken regarding metropolitan airport needs. But there was harmony and gemultichkeit this weekend at the 12th annual Strassenfest (street festival), the first held in the Gateway Arch area after 11 celebrations at Germanic-minded Columbia.

Although the setting was different, there were still German dancers in colorful shirts, suspenders, lederhosen (leather shorts) and Tyrolean hats, with Alpine horns. There was sauerkraut and bratwurst and German potato salad. There was the Waterloo German band. There were cakes insertible "lich Liebe Dich" and there was judging of the family best exemp-theme. Wouldn't it be great if the bi-state cooperative spirit which has pervaded such activities as the Strassenfess and Mississippi River Festival could spill over into such matters as airport planning and commercial-industrial development?

Signs Developing That McGovern Might Be Unable to Achieve Enough Momentum to Win

What with polls showing the McGovern candidacy trailing badly, and his running mate spending much of his campaign time explaining past health episodes, there are indications that the scales may tip heavily toward a repeat Nixon-Agnew November victory even before the latter team's re-nonimation takes place in

Although Presidential Nominee McGovern has repeatedly proven negative polls to be wrong, it is thought-provoking to note a survey showing that, among un-registered young voters, more favor the Republican incumbent than the Democratic White House aspirant.

Senator McGovern draws much of his backing from the young and from minority groups, and his associates have been planning a massive voter registration drive to aid more first-time voters in becoming qualified to cast ballots. Although some national commentators victorial to the property of the propularity when the stroke by Sen. crossing at Venice.
This is a clear violation of the law. No emergency whicle, much less the regular flow of traffic should be forced to wait this period of time,
with sirens sounding and red lights flashing forced to wait for the above length of time for the rall traffic to clear. I have individuals to bear witness to the above statement.
My questions are as follows:

a. Why hasn't state construction started on the service road through the underpass been initiated? This underpass has been completed for a full year or more that I know of.

A temporary service road pending completion of Illinois Route 3 from the Grantic City Bridge would be of immense help to this problem.

b. My second and final question is, "Why has construction on Illinois Route 3 by the above route, been delayed?" the statement of the construction of Illinois Route 3 by the above route, been delayed? The construction of Illinois and the construction of the construction of Illinois.

I say this: If this statement is true, the voters of illinois and effort to elect representant effort to elect representant effort to elect representant effort to elect representant entry equal basis and not just a portion.

Illinois Forestry Experts Speeding Growth of Trees

By JOAN MURARO Copley News Service

Springfield — It undoubtedly is true, as the poet noted, that only God can make a tree. But forestry experts in Illinois are taking credit for making them grow faster.

They are even envisioning a day when forestry "farmers" will combine forests as today they combine a field of wheat.

And they we discovered hist milke the rest of today's year. And they we discovered that milke the rest of today's year way by themselves, completely away from the roots of home. John A. Sester, setaff forester for forestry products in the state department of conservation, said forestry special-sist at Southern Illinois University are currently working on a method of speeding up the growth of trees, which may cut years off the time it takes to produce a wainut tree of suitable size for cutting.

A saving which has to be uitable size for cutting.

A saving which has to be measured in years may not sound like much of a saving.

But since it usually takes up to 50 years to produce walnut trees of a size worth sawing, anything which would reduce the maturation time by even five years would be a substantial improvement.

As for planting and harvest-

BUTTERMILK FACTS

Cultured buttermilk is made from fresh fluid skim milk. The addition of a special culture of bacteria gives it its characteristic acidy flavor and rich body. Some brands of butter-milk have bits of butter added for extra flavor. Use buttermilk as soon as possible after pur-chase because its acidity in-creases during storage. A sincere thank you to our neighbors and friends for their kind words of sympathy, food, flowers and mass offerings received during flowers and mass offerings received during flowers.
